Narrative analysis of WIB patterns by location, frequency and cause: Toledo has an average of approximately 33 to 37 inches of rain per year. Based on climatological data for Toledo from the National Weather Service total precipitation for 2025 was 28.13". The months with the most rain were, April 4.29", May 4.12", June 3.85", and July with 3.17". For more historic rain and weather for Toledo use these links: https://www.weather.gov/cle/lcd_archive_TOL & https://www.weather.gov/wrh/Climate?wfo=cle The single highest rainfall in one day was April 2, 2025 with about 2.26" on that day. Most of our WIBs occur during rain events(high volume rainfalls over a short period of time). When Toledo has a predicted rain event, Sewer & Drainage Services crews are on standby to respond to the SRs 24 hours around the clock until the rainfall subsides and incoming SRs cease. Most other public WIBs were caused by certain restaurant row trouble areas due to grease. In these trouble spot areas, the division has increased cleaning efforts by cleaning these areas more than once per year(proactively). There were also more WIBs in the South End due to the collapse of a 42" interceptor on Arlington. Repairs are currently in process.
